

Below is a December 11, 2024 extract from Prison Policy Institute. They say “We used the data to compare Black and white imprisonment rates by state, finding that every state locks up Black people at a rate at least double that of white people — and, on average, at six times the rate of white residents:”.

The graph is based on 2021 data.

The above was taken from their website at Updated data and charts: Incarceration stats by race, ethnicity, and gender for all 50 states and D.C. | Prison Policy Initiative.

A spread sheet of the data may be downloaded from their site by clicking the above.

They provide a Data Toolbox at Data toolbox | Prison Policy Initiative where information sources and resources related to the prison industry is listed..
